Dave's Rave – (Summer 2025/26) The social media ban for users under 16 in Australia comes into effect on December 10, 2025. It is a somewhat toothless step in the right direction to try and mitigate the generational damage perpetrated on our children, something that was allowed by successive governments on both sides of the political "clown show." As this is the part of the program where we keep you informed on the latest issues in Childcare, I'm going to allow myself a little, arrogant "I told you so!" by repeating a piece I wrote 3 years ago at the beginning of 2023. I wonder.....how much more damage occurred in those three years?

Dave's Rave – (Summer 2023) CLAIMING BACK THE BATTLEFIELD OF CHILDHOOD!

Allow me a little indulgence if you will. This year marks the 40th anniversary of my entering both the Teaching Profession and the world of OOSH! (it was my Uni holiday job back in 1983) Suffice to say, I've seen a world of change in these industries, both for better and worse! Now to the point! Sadly, I think WORSE IS WINNING! When you read this, we'll be 10 weeks away from a new school year. I never tire of seeing the excitement of the first week back at school and the delight of the kids who have grown ridiculously over summer and are ready to shed the skins of their old grades and move onwards and upwards. Better still, I love the sound of "snapping apron strings" as the new kindies embark on their journey into the world of "big school" HOWEVER in 2023 what does that world REALLY look like for them? My fear is that today's kids are becoming trapped and have to put up with the WHOLE WORLD jammed into their faces and impressionable minds, all at once! Think WWW (it's called World Wide WEB for a reason!) There is an overindulgence and exposure of both kids and adults to inane "social trends" and FOMO. Sadly, it is completely out of hand and has become the norm because along the way, and over all these years, the first dumb idea or piece of stupidity (in any aspect of the word, be it professional or recreational) was not slapped down and extinguished! Instead, it was given the oxygen to become the foundation platform for the next one! The only TIC TOCK your child should know about is the one from a clock or the wristwatch you buy them so they can tell the time. That watch should do just that, tell the time! They do not need it to count their steps, enable the sending/receiving of their (and other peoples) random thoughts 24/7 or to monitor their heartrate to measure their newfound "anxiety levels" that shouldn't exist! Our children desperately need to be exposed to all of life's adventures, both good and bad, FACE TO FACE not FACEBOOK! Their ventures into the world must be lovingly guided by the people they trust in their lives so that they can advance at their own time and pace rather than being thrown into the deep end as consumable fodder to the stark realities of a "connected" world which they are not physically, or more importantly emotionally, ready for! Sadly, the word I hear from a lot of educational professionals is that WE ARE LOSING THE BATTLE! Everyday games, activities and learning experiences that were a necessary rite of passage in the past are now over analysed, overregulated and overshadowed by a prohibitive neurosis of "insurance driven policy!" "SO... IT'S TIME TO PUSH BACK.....!!!!" Hopefully we are the adults. Everyone who has anything to do with a child, be it as parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, friends or teaching professionals have the responsibility to be the nurturers and protectors of a child's CHILDHOOD, not the misguided enablers, and dare I say influencers, of their MINI ADULTHOOD. Finally, a "Helpful Hint" for all concerned. It's ok to say "NO" to your children. The effect may be life changing for all of you!
